Dear parents and carers of our three schools.

We would like to give you some feedback regarding our three-school Creative Partnership Project with Yaw Asiyama.

We have been greatly heartened and had our best expectations superseded by the responses of your children to the project. They have made super efforts at the opportunities it afforded not only for academic study across the curriculum but for the personal and social development as they worked, played and viewed each other's efforts together.

In our initial evaluations with the children they have shown great developmental maturity in praising and admiring the efforts and creativity of their new-found friends in the other schools. The mutual kindness and respect they showed each other and the 'networking' they developed between structured sessions was a joy for the teaching staff to share.

While the CP monies are not available next year we have secured a similar amount of money in recognition of our working together as a 'cluster'. The exact nature of the activities we will undertake has yet to be planned but we look forward to our three-school collaborations with a lot of personal and professional enthusiasm.

Your help in evaluating the project through the feedback forms we sent you recently would be valuable in planning future events. There is another copy attached. Please return them when you have had a chance to have a conversation with your children.

Lastly, thank you for travelling with us if you were able to. It was nice to meet you and we look forward to doing so again.

Three School Creative Partnership Project 2011

An evaluation of this project will be useful as we have secured funding for a further three-school collaboration next year.

To what extent have you been aware that the project has been going on from comments by your child?

Which aspects of the project has your child told you about?

How has the opportunity to work with children from other schools been noted by your child?

Do you have any views on how you think we could pursue further creative opportunities for learning across the three schools?

Any other comments? Do you wish to have a further conversation about the project?
